

Outbreak preparedness and health emergencies: What has been and could be the contribution of German medical anthropology

Workshop with anthropologists working in Germany in the field of Global Health

Wednesday, February 2nd 2022

Online event: WebEx Link
<https://rki.webex.com/rki/j.php?MTID=mff60ef0578b3d0cfca278953b24e9b8b>

Agenda
10:00 – 10:20	Opening words and participants presentation	Dr. Johanna Hanefeld
Moment 1
10:20 – 10:50	Medical Anthropology and Global Health in Germany	Dr. Hansjörg Dilger
10:50 – 11:20	Revisiting the Politics of Epidemics	Dr. Sung-Joon Park
11:20 – 11:40	Discussion and first round of questions	Plenary
11:40 – 12:00	Break
12:00 – 12:30	Interdisciplinarity and Collaborations in Global Health	Dr. Uli Beisel
12:30 – 13:00	Situating Anthropology and Response to Health Emergencies	Dr. Almudena Marí-Sáez
13:00 – 13:20	Discussion and second round of questions	Plenary
13:20 – 14:00	Lunch break
Moment 2
14:00 – 14:10	Work dynamic discussion and distribution in small groups	Plenary
14:10 – 15:30	Anthropological contributions and expectations during outbreaks and health emergencies	Small groups discussion
15:30 – 16:30	Open discussion about contributions and ways forward	Dr. Almudena Marí-Sáez
16:30 – 17:00	Wrap up and conclusions
End

Please confirm attendance and interest to take part in the afternoon session (moment 2 is limited to 42 participants):
zig.anthropology@rki.de